
	Susanne Bremer-Hoffmann		I agree to have my photo published on the EU-NCL website
Organisation	Joint Research Centre
	Susanne Bremer-Hoffmann, Dr. rer nat, holds a PhD degree in Biology obtained from the Charite University Hospital Berlin in Germany for her work on the development of immunotherapies against leukemia. After post-doctoral research at the Federal Institute for Risk Assessment in Germany, Susanne joined the Institute for Health & Consumer Protection (IHCP) which is part of the Joint Research Centre (JRC) of the European Commission. Susanne became a team member of the European Centre for the Validation of Alternative Methods (ECVAM) in 1995 where she was involved in formal validation studies of toxicological in vitro tests detecting embryotoxicity and endocrine disruption as well as the regulatory acceptance of some tests at the OECD. She collaborated in several FP6 and FP 7 projects including the public/privat partnership initiative "SEURAT-1". She contributed to more than 70 peer-reviewed scientific paper.
Role in the EU-NCL	Susanne is member of the Executive Board (ExBo) and leads the workpackage "Innovation, dissemination and exploitation". She liaises with various external stakeholders including regulatory bodies.		